AFRIQUE.

This historical map illustrates the coastal regions of Africa, the Mediterranean, and the Indian subcontinent. The map is framed by a grid of latitude and longitude lines.

- Top Left (Mediterranean Sea): Shows the coastlines of North Africa (Algeria, Libya, Egypt), Sicily, and the Italian Peninsula. Major cities like Algiers, Tripoli, Alexandria, and Jerusalem are labeled. The Mediterranean Sea is centered.
- Middle Left: Shows the coastlines of Spain, Portugal, and the African continent (Mozambique, Madagascar). Key locations include Cape Verde, Madeira, the Canary Islands, and the Suez Canal area.
- Middle Right (Eastern Mediterranean and Indian Subcontinent): Shows the coastlines of the Middle East (Persia, Mesopotamia) and South Asia (India, Sri Lanka). Major cities like Istanbul, Ankara, and Calcutta are labeled. The Indian Ocean is to the south.
- Bottom (Indian Ocean): Shows the coastlines of Africa (South Africa, Mozambique, Malawi, Tanzania, Kenya, Somalia, Ethiopia, Djibouti, Eritrea) and Asia (Sri Lanka, India, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Iran, Saudi Arabia). Major cities like Port Louis, Colombo, Mumbai, and Dhaka are labeled. The Indian Ocean is centered.
- Bottom Left (Africa): Shows the coastlines of West Africa (Ghana, Côte d'Ivoire, Nigeria, Cameroon, Gabon, Congo, Angola, Democratic Republic of Congo, Zambia, Malawi, Mozambique) and South Africa. Major cities like Lagos, Kinshasa, and Cape Town are labeled.

The map also includes labels for various islands, rivers, and geographical features across the entire region.
